A Crochet Blog by Jen Nipps

jennippsonline.com

Jen has been blogging since 2010. She blogs about crochet projects, designing patterns, things that are inspiring her, and gives tips to other makers with vision loss on how to make accommodations in their craft. She has built a community that loves crochet, creativity, and making things themselves.

She is the face behind Jen Nipps Online, a resource for crocheters of all skill levels and visual abilities.

Jen is currently designing a fall/winter line featuring the Twisted Stitches Fringed Scarf she released last winter.
